THE HEIRS OF BURNS.

NUMEROUS DESCENDANTS OF THE POET.

In view of the controversy over the sale of the Burns manuscripts, known as the Glenriddell manuscripts, a Scottish correspondent sends us an account of the poet's descendants. Robert Burns had three sons who grew up to manhood, their children all dying in infancy. The pedigree may be set out as follows:

THE POET

Robert William Neil James Gencinatus Burns, Burns, Burns.

Line extinct. Line extinct. Issue as below. Mr. Robert Burns, jun., (a Civil servant), died in 1857. His line is now extinct. George William Neil Burns, who died in 1872, had no children. Lieutenant-Colonel James Glencairn Burns, who died in 1872, left two daughters, Sarah, married (Dr. Hutchinson) and had three daughters and a son) and Anne Burns Burns, unmarried, who lives at Ch. Leavenworth, and has recently been appointed by the Sheriff Court of Dunfermline as executrix ad litem to the poet, so as to give her a title to sue for the cancellation of the manuscripts.

Mrs. Burns Hutchinson died in 1909. Her family consists of three daughters and one son. The eldest child, Annie Burns Hutchinson, was married to Mr. Scott, but is now a widow, and resides at Ortinga, Large Bay, South Australia. The second, a son, named Robert Burns Hutchinson, was born in 1853, and spent a good many years of his life in India and America, and now owns a farm in Langley, British Columbia. He has five children, two of whom are sons and three daughters. Miss Burns Hutchinson's third child is named Violet Burns Hutchinson, and is married to Mr. George H. Gowring, principal of St. Bede's School, Eastbourne. They have one son, named Ian Burns Gowring, aged 12. The fourth child, Miss Margaret Constance Burns Hutchinson, is unmarried, and resides at Cheltenham with her aunt, Miss Annie B. Burns.

DISTRACTED LOVER'S ACT.

GRUEZONE CEMETERY INCIDENT.

PARIS, Sept. 19.
Grief and despair on the part of lovers find strange expression, but scarcely any as gruesome as an incident which has just occurred at the little cemetery ofilly, near Mantes.

A few days ago the cemetery keeper was met by a man of 40, named Guerrier, who, with tears in his eyes, asked to be shown the tomb of Mme. Samson. The caretaker conducted him to the tomb and left him to be alone with his thoughts. Next day the caretaker was amazed and rather worried that the tomb of Mme. Samson had been opened, revealing the dead occupant's remains. Realizing his error in the evening before, the caretaker gave the information of him to the Police, who came and easily arrested him at St. Germain-en-Laye.

Guerrier had admitted committing the grave-robbing and stated that he had planned it in the depths of Mme. Samson's soul in the course of being infatuated and in some measure married to a rival. In consequence of his infidelity past the last mile of his burning heart, that Mme. Samson had turned upon her estrange and sought a secret place to look for her beloved. To this he responded that he had been when he saw what she had done and had made in the face of his infidelity. He is now detained in the prison at Vernon.

SCOTTISH LETTER.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

EDINBURGH, September 23.

FORGORIES BY PETERHEAD CONVICTS.

The Peterhead convicts have added greatly to the quiet of nations; it has been discovered that, within the prison walls, there is a manufacturer of Scottish bank notes on gross proof butter paper.

The forgeries are so good that several of the notes have passed into general circulation. Of course the prison officials declare that the forgeries could not have been committed within the convict estab-

TIME-EXPIRED SOLDIERS.

The Royal Army Temperance Association.

An Asset to Regimental Life.

The Rev. H. C. Martin, general secretary of the Royal Army Temperance Association, returned to Simla at the end of September from a tour extending over three months in Australia. The object of the tour was to find what opening there are in the Colonies for time-expired soldiers whose service end while they are in India, and to make more definite the work in regard to emigration which the Association has been carrying on for several years for the benefit of the British soldier in India. The tour included visits to each of the six states in the Commonwealth and a very thorough investigation into the conditions of life prospects of success for different classes of soldiers, and experiences of ex-soldiers who have already emigrated and settled there; it covered also the arrangements made by the various state departments in regard to the reception and settling of immigrants, rates of wages and so on. Mr. Martin received every assistance from the authorities throughout his tour, especially from the governors of the states in turn and the ministers of the Commonwealth and state governments. Among other visits for the purpose of direct inquiry were those made to the irrigated areas under Government and private control, fruit-growing districts, training farms, sheep stations and sheep-growing areas, while the various industries of the country each received attention.

VALUABLE ASSISTANCE.

As a result it may confidently be expected that any soldier who has any thoughts of emigrating and seeking a future in the British Colonies will in future be warned of all pitfalls and in all cases will be able to go on to employment arranged for him before final employment which has already given prosperity to other ex-soldiers and will treat him likewise with reasonable readiness and application. Such a work has been undoubtedly needed and the lack of knowledge in the past has been responsible for many fatal mistakes made by men, and it is hardly possible to realize how much good such a tour, as this, which has been undertaken by the Association, will do in the future.

In this way not only emigration but assistance towards employment in India, which were showing a rapid rate of increase, have retrograded during last fiscal year amounting to £15,109,050 against £18,797,592 the year before. But in this case also the imports show a decided increase, having reached the figure of £16,178,182 against £83,252,623 in the fiscal year 1912. Our imports from the Philippine Islands are £2,000,000 less than they were last year, but the exports have increased from £23,736,183 to £25,384,700. Of this latter amount £5,777,275 was in cotton cloths, or nearly £200,000 more than the sum of our exports of the same class of goods to China.

J.S. TRADE WITH THE FAR EAST.

The completed returns of the fiscal year ending with June, says the Journal of the American Asiatic Association, show a decrease of $2,400,000 in the sum of our Asiatic exports, while the imports show an increase of $51,000,000. The decrease in exports is more account for by the falling off in our sales to China and Hongkong, which amounted to $80,007,400 to $81,033,240. The exports to British India, which were showing a rapid rate of increase, have retrograded during last fiscal year amounting to £15,109,050 against £18,797,592 the year before. But in this case also the imports show a decided increase, having reached the figure of £16,178,182 against £83,252,623 in the fiscal year 1912. WESTERN MEN AND EASTERN MORALS.

We read in a recent issue of Truth to hand by the mail: A breach of promise case which came before the London Sheriff Court last week for the assessment of damages had a special interest as a practical illustration of the young Englishman's life in the Far East which awakened much interest when dealt with in Truth under the title of "Western Men and Eastern Morals." The defendant was a young man who had married a birth at Rangoon. When he went out he was engaged to an English girl. He wrote the usual ardently affectionate letters home for a time. They then ceased. The customs of the country and the attractions of a Burmese maiden had proved too strong for him, and he set up a Burmese establishment. Then he broke off the engagement. Counsel characterised his conduct as most disgraceful. I am not so sure of that. His Burmese wife had presented him with three children. In nine cases out of ten the Englishman would have broken his English fiancee. It would have cost him less both in cash and credit to have done so but I cannot help thinking that in breaking the engagement he did the honest thing by both the white and the yellow woman to say nothing of the children.

REPORT OF THE ASSOCIATION.

The annual report of the Association for 1912-13 shows steady and gratifying progress in its work. The secretary is forwarding the report to the governing council writes:—The Association is not as much as formerly taken up with the actual redemption from intemperance of men who have given way to excess. Not does the question of temperance teaching fully occupy our attention. The actual number of men who are heavy drinkers is far from negligible and there are many who have joined their regimental branches time after

THE PHILIPPINES.

New Governor-General of the Islands.

Hon. F. Burton Harrison's Record.

Manila has welcomed the first democratic Governor-General of the Islands, who, according to Washington papers, is "in favour of early Philippine independence as pledged on the Baltimore platform." After his appointment Mr. Harrison made the following declaration: "I stand squarely on the democratic platform with regard to Philippine independence. I consider the appointment the greatest opportunity for public service the President can give to any citizen of our country. It comes to me as a great surprise, but as a most welcome opportunity for doing a man's work."

The New York Times gives this record of Mr. Harrison:

Francis Harrison is by profession a lawyer, by politics New York City Democrat of the "silk-stocking" variety, by descent a member of aristocratic southern families, and in terms of money a millionaire. He is the son of the late Burton Harrison, who was private secretary to Jefferson Davis during the days of the Confederacy. His mother, who as Mrs. Burton Harrison, has achieved distinction as a writer, was Miss Constance Cary, a member of the old Virginia Cary family, and related to the families of Custis and Washington.

Mr. Harrison in 1900 married Miss Crocker, daughter of the late Charles F. Crocker, president of the southern Pacific. Five years later Mrs. Harrison was killed in an automobile accident in Long Island City. By will she left her fortune of more than $3,000,000 for equal division between her husband and her two children. Fourteen months after her death, Harrison married Mrs. Mabel Judson Cox, daughter of Harry L. Judson of Brooklyn, who had been separated from her husband, Dr. Rowland Cox Jr., by divorce proceedings.

POLITICAL CAREER.

In politics Mr. Harrison struck his gait early. He was the youngest member of the House when he took his seat as the representative from the Thirteenth New York district. He is now in his 40th year. Born in New York in December, 1873, Mr. Harrison was graduated from Yale in 1895, and from the New York law school two years later. He remained at the law school as instructor until the outbreak of the Spanish war, when he enlisted as a private in Troop A, New York volunteer cavalry. He had become captain and assistant adjutant-general, United States Volunteers, when he returned to New York, law, and politics. The Tammany nomination for Congress brought him the office, for he proved an irresistible vote getter, even in a Republican district. In 1904 he was named as the candidate for lieutenant-governor when D. Cady Herrick was nominated for governor. He credited his defeat to the "Roosevelt tidal wave." Then he went back to Congress.

Mr. Harrison was elected to Fifty-eighth Congress in 1902 from the Thirtieth New York district and was elected to the Sixtieth, Sixty-first, and Sixty-second Congresses from the old Sixteenth New York district, embracing part of Manhattan Island. In 1912, he was elected to the present Congress from the Twentieth district. In the Taft administration Mr. Harrison was named by the President, who flatly refused him admission to the White House conference when he went there with a visiting delegation. This followed the heat of the Ballinger scandal when, on the floor of the House, Mr. Harrison called attention to the famous back-dated document. In a scorching statement issued immediately by the rebuffed congressman he said it was too bad for the President that he could not stand critics and too bad for the country that he could not stand the truth.

PROGRESSIVE AND DEMOCRATIC.

He is known as the leader of the low tariff men in the Ways and Means Committee. He is generally given much credit for having won the fight for free wool and for having brought about great reductions in schedules K. As a member of the committee on foreign relations he led the fighting "Dollar Diplomacy," where the Republicans were in majority in the House. Because of his bitter denunciation of the action of the State department in the interest of New York bankers Mr. Harrison had an open rupture with President Taft.

The Washington Times comments on the nomination of Mr. Harrison in the following way:

Francis Burton Harrison is one of the wealthiest men in public life, and one of the most modest, unassuming, hard-working and sincere Democrats in his party. He is one of those rare cases, so often pointed out among the British aristocracy, of the young men who, his social and financial independence quite assured, dare to progressive, and truly democratic. "We have produced all too few of the type in this country, though we are doing better nowadays."

Mr. Harrison's nomination to be Governor-General of the Philippines will cause some wonder; not that he should have been considered highly qualified, but that he should be willing to accept the difficult post. He is one of the most important men in Congress, a member of Ways and Means, a progressive Democrat, and one of the group whose views and study have kept the House in line with the more radical Democratic wing of the party. Without doubt he is sent to the Islands because the President knows his views, and knows them to be in harmony with his, whatever may be the administration's programme for carrying out the Baltimore platform's pledge. That platform condemned the

Do you Odolise?

To "odolise" is to rinse the mouth and brush the teeth regularly with Odol, the world-famous and absolutely incomparable dentifrice and mouthwash.

A few drops of this reliable antisepic and delightfully refreshing preparation mixed with a tumbler of lime-warm water make an emulsion which will thoroughly cleanse and purify the entire oral cavity, penetrating all cracks and crevices in and between the teeth, permeating the gums and living membrane, and exerting its marvellous "protective powers, not only during the few moments while being used, but for hours after."

It is this lasting effect that gives to "Odolisers" the absolute assurance that their mouths are permanently protected from the processes of fermentation which, if not guarded against, will inevitably destroy the teeth.

experiment imperialism, and promised to give the islands their independence as soon as they could be prepared to provide themselves with a stable Government, and the powers would unite in agreement to maintain the neutrality of their territory.

FOREIGNERS IN CHINA.

Shanghai Defence Corps.

Mr. James W. Fraser, Shanghai, in the course of a recent communication to a Home paper writes:

Judging from questions which arise when all the trouble is over—the homeland seems to have little or no idea how Shanghai stands in the matter of defence in time of war. It would scarcely be credited, probably, that during the recent fortnight's fighting with the foreign settlements the foreign residents were protected by over 20 warships, some of which carried crews of close 1,000 men. It is interesting to note, however, that the sailors landed were mainly from the British ships, and for over a week about 200 men from His Majesty's ship Monmouth were ashore. Fortunately the fighting services of the men did not have to be requisitioned at any time, but they put in a good amount of hard work, as day and night patrols were stationed all round the landward boundaries of the town. A wireless station was fixed up keeping the officers in charge in touch with the fleet. In addition to the men they can land it is well known that the passive fleets have a very powerful influence on the natives. All the time half a dozen Government cruisers were bombarding Woosung Forts from a distance of five miles. His Majesty's ship Monmouth and His Majesty's ship Minotaur were lying within a mile of the Forts, which they could have blown out of existence in less than five minutes. But Shanghai has a defence power quite distinct from the Far Eastern squadrons of the foreign fleets. It consists of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps, and in times of trouble in the past the corps has done much splendid work, and invariably come through with flying colours. This Volunteer Corps registers a total strength of over 1,000 men, and supports both artillery and light horse sections. The companies are mostly divided into nationalities. It is curious that there should be a Chinese company, the members of this being the sons of the wealthier natives residing in the foreign settlement. This company, however, is under British officers, and the members enjoy private headquarters. During the recent trouble the Chinese company were placed in rather an awkward position, as it is believed that the majority of them were Southern in sentiment, and thus were on duty chiefly against danger from soldiers whose cause they upheld. For 24 hours at one stretch one or two of the companies were on duty guarding the settlement, while members of other companies were attending office in a broiling sun, in uniform, ready for the emergency call. Many of the companies include in their ranks leading members of the business firms, and it says much for them that no complaint has yet been heard from any quarter.

The Washington Times comments on the nomination of Mr. Harrison in the following way:

Francis Burton Harrison is one of the wealthiest men in public life, and one of the most modest, unassuming, hard-working and sincere Democrats in his party. He is one of those rare cases, so often pointed out among the British aristocracy, of the young men who, his social and financial independence quite assured, dare to progressive, and truly democratic. CAUSES OF EXISTING LABOUR UNREST.

The prevailing epidemic in labour disputes at home is serious, more, perhaps, because of the evidence it affords of the attitude of mind of the workers generally than of the immediate causes of the many stoppages of work. These causes are themselves more or less trivial, and the immediate circumstances attending the disputes might be regarded with some degree of complacency; but, because of their accumulative effect on industry, their correlation to each other, and the underlying principles involved, they demand the attention of all interested in the industrial future of the country. We are not disposed to be pessimistic, because time brings a certain degree of reflection, and, it may be, also a clearer conception of the responsibilities resting alike on the employer and employee. Formerly the organisation of labour in trade unions was confined to skilled artisans. The members, by reason of their contact with mechanical appliances, realised the direct relation of cause and effect, and, through a process of reasoning, came to the conclusion that strikes were in all cases injurious to the worker, perhaps more so than to the nation, and, consequently, were only to be entered upon as a last resort. In other words, strikes were utilised with an increasing degree of caution as instruments for the enforcement of collective bargaining. There was, too, a satisfactory measure of discipline in the ranks, an acceptance of the guidance of responsible executive officers. The only check in the line of progress towards increased strength and power has been the introduction of the political element; but that need not here be dealt with, as this influence was considered in a recent article.

Lately there has been a strong accession to the ranks of trade-unionism from what may be termed, without any intention of disparagement, the lower grade of workers. These men are not educated to the same standard as the artisan, nor have they come under the same disciplinary training. Moreover, they are more widely distributed, and in most cases their work is less continuous in one district or in one factory. The difficulties of organisation and of control by the executive officers is thus greatly increased. Many of the recent strikes have arisen in connection with these younger unions, and they are traceable as much to the influence of the enthusiastic organiser, or anarchist, as to discontent with the conditions of labour and remuneration. Thus there has been a growing tendency to strike against the employment of men who refuse to join the societies. The trouble in Dublin, of which Reuter to-day records another outbreak, is traceable "practically alone to this cause and to the syndicalistic tendencies of the organisers. The difficulties in connection with the busmen and others concerned with the travelling facilities in London are also due to this state of affairs, because the intention in wearing the badge of union is not so much to display pride in the workers' organisation as by its absence to mark out the non-unionist who is without it. The presumption is that this singling out of the non-unionist is to facilitate little acts of coercion which render the life of the victim somewhat intolerable.

At the Magistrate this morning before Mr. Hazelwood a Chinese was charged by Inspector Kerr with the theft of two blankets at Hong Hom. The defendant was sentenced to a month's hard labour and four hours' stocks.

Mr. Kau's Yik Ting, of the Canton Navigation Co., Ltd., has been nominated by the board of directors of the Canton Electric Supply Co., Ltd., to be the managing director of that company, with the approval of the Chinese Government.

Two men who were charged by Sergeant Pincock with being in possession of arms and ammunition were fined $250 each or three months' by Mr. Hazelwood this morning. One man had ammunition concealed in a tea-pot, and the other had a large revolver, the ammunition for which was concealed in old socks.

Captain Evans, of the s.s. Alania, charged seventeen members of his crew before Commander Basil T. R. N. Marine Magistrate, at the Marine Court yesterday with disobedience of lawful commands. Captain Evans stated that defendant entered into a four months' agreement in England but they seemed to have consented to leave the ship. They went ashore without leave on the 20th and when they returned refused to work and demand to be paid off. Four of the men were sentenced to ten months' hard labour and remained to six months' plus expenses to be paid out of the wages due to them.

The President said the answer to the first question was in the negative; the second was under consideration. As soon as a reply was received he would circulate it.

Mr. Bowley said he understood that the estimates came up for discussion before the Legislative Council, in two days' time. When possible, he asked for my information to be given to the Board before the estimates were passed? The Board made certain recommendations and they were quite in the dark now as to whether they had been adopted or not.

The President said he would endeavour to obtain this information either that afternoon or the next day.

DIPHTHERIA—HOW IT MAY BE AVOIDED.

DIPHTHERIA is usually contracted when the child has a cold. The cold prepares the child's system for the infection and development of the diphtheria germs. When there are cases of diphtheria in the neighborhood children that have colds should be kept at home and off the street until recovered. Give them hemphill's Cough Remedy as they will not have to remain at home long. It also clears the culture beds, which form in a child's throat when it has a cold, and minimises the risk of contracting infectious diseases. For sale by all Chemists and Surgeons.

Vessels to the South are thus entirely stopped from any communication with Hongkong, while those to the North are dependent upon the good offices of the Formosa Governor who occasionally picks up messages and transmits them to us via Foochow.

This is, of course, a most unsatisfactory state of affairs and one which reflects adversely upon a port which in point of tonnage ranks as second in the world.

The prevalence of so much bad weather in the neighbourhood during so large a portion of the year, as caused by the typhoon season in the Summer and strong gales during the Winter months, renders the need for a wireless station of even greater importance than possibly at many other large shipping centres.

I am further directed to take this opportunity of again drawing your attention to the urgent need of a wireless station being set up on the Pratas Islands to trust that an early opportunity will be taken by H. M. Government of again pressing this upon the Chinese Authorities.

My Committee would beg that His Excellency will again bring this in so important question to the notice of the Secretary of State and trust that at all events before another typhoon season is upon us we may see a suitable wireless station set up in this Colony.

I have the honour to be, &c.,

Reply from the Government.

Hongkong, 15th September, 1913.—Sir—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 11th September, in which you ask if any further information has been received from the Secretary of State for the Colonies on the subject of the proposed Commercial Wireless Telegraphic Station at Hongkong.

There has been no recent communication from the Secretary of State in this subject, but as the Crown Agents for the Colonies were instructed in December last to call for tenders for the erection of the installation it is reasonable to suppose that there will be no great delay in carrying out the work.

THE COURT CARDS.

Mr. Bowley's Questions.

The only item of public interest upon the agenda of the meeting of the Sanitary Board yesterday afternoon was two questions standing in the name of Mr. F. B. L. Bowley relative to the report of the Select Committee on the Estimates for 1914. Mr. D. W. Trutchman, President, was in the chair, and there were also present, Col. Irwin, the Hon. Mr. E. H. Halford, Dr. F. Clark (M.O.H.), Mr. P. L. Bowley, Dr. Pearce, Mr. Ng Hon Tze, Mr. Chan Kai Ming, and Mr. W. Bowen-Ruindius (Secretary).

Mr. F. B. L. Bowley pursuant to notice asked: "1. Has the Government acknowledged the Report of the Select Committee on the Estimates for 1914 adopted by the Board on the 20th May last and forwarded to the Government? 2. To what extent has the Government included the recommendations contained in that report in the draft estimates for 1914 now before the Legislative Council, and have any reasons been given by Government for not adopting any of such recommendations?"

The President said the answer to the first question was in the negative; the second was under consideration. As soon as a reply was received he would circulate it.

Mr. Bowley said he understood that the estimates came up for discussion before the Legislative Council, in two days' time. When possible, he asked for my information to be given to the Board before the estimates were passed?

The Board made certain recommendations and they were quite in the dark now as to whether they had been adopted or not.

A LONG AIRSHIP FLIGHT.

LONDON, Oct. 22.
The French aviator, Daucourt, with a passenger, named Roux, started from Issy les Moulineaux at 8.30 this morning, in pouring rain for Schaffhausen, the first stage of his flight to Cairo via Belgrade, Bucharest, Constantinople, Konieh, Aleppo, and Beirut.

THE PORTUGUESE MONARCHISTS.

RUMOURED SERIOUS OUT-BREAK.

LONDON, Oct. 22.
Reports of a serious outbreak in Portugal reached Madrid to-day. A censorial message from Reuter's correspondent at Lisbon this afternoon says that a Monarchist revolution was to have broken out to-day, but only a few groups appeared in the streets, one being composed of policemen. The leaders of the movement have disappeared from their homes.

MORE RUMOURS.

Reuter's correspondent in Madrid telegraphs that it was rumoured that there was a rising in Oporto yesterday evening.

TRANQUILLITY RESTORED.

A Lisbon telegram states that complete tranquillity has been restored. The railway at Oporto, which was temporarily interrupted, has been repaired.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

Oct. 22.

Censored telegrams received from Lisbon show that there was some fighting there yesterday in connection with the Royalist rising. Crowds attacked police stations, police posts and Republican Guards. Many of the attackers were arrested, and a number fled. The authorities raided a meeting held in an embroidery factory near the prison at Lameiro. All present were arrested after a struggle. It is assumed that there was a conspiracy to liberate the prisoners. The Government announces that it knows all the designs of the plotters and has the situation in hand.

EX-KING MANUEL.

LONDON, Oct. 22.

A Munich telegram states that Ex-King Manuel of Portugal and his bride have left for Sigmaringen.

HOME RULE TO BECOME LAW.

LONDON, Oct. 21.

Speaking at Griffithstown, Mr. R. McKenna dealt with the question of and reform, remarking that it was unnecessary to speak of the old battle of Home Rule, which he stated, would become law next session.

BRITISH POLITICS.

A Miniature Bye-Election.

TEST ON PUBLIC OPINION.

LONDON, Oct. 21.

There are now five by-elections pending, viz.—Reading, Wick, Keighley, Linlithgow, and North-Cork. This will be such an interesting test of public opinion that the by-elections have been described as forming a miniature general election. The Unionists are confident of winning at Reading, where local reporters are offering three pounds to five shillings on a victory for Captain Leslie Wilson, who opposed Sir Rufus Isaacs in 1910. Yesterday the Liberals selected Mr. G. P. Gooch, M.A., who represented Bath in the Liberal interests from 1906 to 1910. Mr. Gooch is joint editor of the Contemporary Review.

IN MEMORY OF NELSON.

LONDON, Oct. 21.

The decoration of Nelson's monument in Trafalgar Square was carried out on an even more elaborate scale than previously. The decorative scheme included a coloured portrait of the great admiral, while Bombay and Natal were conspicuous representatives among the floral tributes.

THE BATTLE RECALLED.

A blue-book issued yesterday contained a report of the Admiralty Committee on Nelson's tactics at Trafalgar. The evidence was re-constructed chiefly on the matter in the ship's log book extracts of which were printed.

ECHO OF THE AISGILL TRAIN TRAGEDY.

LONDON, Oct. 22.
The driver of the second train involved in the Aisgill railway disaster has been found guilty of manslaughter upon his trial, with a recommendation to mercy. Sentence was deferred.

BOMBAY FINANCIAL CRISIS.

A BIG FAILURE.

LONDON, Oct. 22.
A telegram from Bombay states that there has been a tremendous fall in Bombay mill shares, which has caused a panic on the share market.

A well-known broker has failed to the extent of twenty-four lakhs of rupees. The share market has been closed.

RUSSIAN MILITARY SERVICE.

LONDON, Oct. 22.
A St. Petersburg telegram states that the Minister for War will shortly submit to the Duma a Bill extending by three months the service with the colours of recruits of the one year class.

AUSTRIA AND SERVIA.

LONDON, Oct. 22.
A telegram from Vienna says that the official statement affirms that the Government is insisting on the immediate withdrawal of the Servian troops, acted in the best interests of Europe and of general peace.

AUSTRIA AND EMIGRATION.

LONDON, Oct. 22.
The Austrian Government has introduced a Bill regulating emigration and forbidding it when it affects recruiting.

THE "ZEPPELIN" VICIMS.
IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL.

LONDON, Oct. 22.
The Kaiser, his six sons, the Imperial Chancellor, Count Zeppelin, Admiral Smits, and prominent naval and military men attended the funeral of the victims of the airship disaster. The ceremony was of a most impressive character.

MRS. PANKHURST.

LONDON, Oct. 21.
Mrs. Pankhurst, was allowed admission to New York after giving an undertaking that she would not preach militancy, and that at the conclusion of her lecture engagements she would leave the country.

MR. SULZER.

LONDON, Oct. 21.
The Progressives in the sixth assembly district say a New York telegram has nominated Mr. Sulzer as a candidate for the Assembly election on November 4.

MORE INDUSTRIAL TROUBLE AT DUBLIN.

LONDON, Oct. 21.
Three hundred employees of the Dublin Port Board have struck work, they having refused to handle "united" coal. As a consequence, the power supply of the city is threatened.

CHINESE NEWS.

PEKING, Oct. 22.
The members of the Chinese Commercial Association in Tientsin are very indignant at Japan's demands with regard to the Chantui station murder case and intend to invite kindred societies in all the provinces to a protest meeting which they are convening.

Leung Yung, galloping past Tai-tai's godown, despatched to receiving four cases belonging to Mr. Gourgey. The cases now in Saseon were the same cases. He had also received other cases for the defendant, and had sent them in to Saseon's godown. The cases could not be opened, without witness' knowledge.

Mr. Stude said that was the case for the defence. He added that the Crown had not made a case, and that any case that had been made, he had met. The Crown had not proved that at any time when this opium was held under any permit, the chests were larger than they were at present. The defendant had been robbed of the differences in the weight of the chests. Because the unfortunate man had been robbed, the Crown came upon him and asked for a large fine because he did not find out before. If they had gone to him he would have given the full possible information. Instead of that, they arrested the man at once. It was rather an error of judgment on the part of those directing operations.

Mr. Hodgson replied on behalf of the Crown. The movement of the opium, the actions of the defendant, and the curious situation he found himself in regarding $20,000 worth of opium was extraordinary, unusual, and not the sort of condition to find a man like Mr. Gourgey in, who had been dealing in opium in the Colony.

His Worship intimated that he would give his decision on Wednesday morning next at 8.30, and remanded the case until that date.

THE MEXICAN CRISIS.

SERIOUS STATE OF AFFAIRS.

LONDON, Oct. 22.
A Mexico City telegram to New York states that the Constitutional leader Villa is holding as hostages at Tercero twelve British subjects and about a hundred French Germans and Spaniards. He declares that all will be sacrificed unless the attempts to recapture the town are abandoned.

President Huerta has imposed an increase of 50 per cent. upon the taxation of all imports from October 28; this is in addition to the 10 per cent. tax already levied. Business people have been driven to despair by these imposts.

REFUGEE DEFICIENT STOCK OF OPIUM.

It is believed to be due to the recent banking failures.

A well-known broker has failed to the extent of twenty-four lakhs of rupees.

The share market has been closed.

THE GOLDEN BRACELET.

(Specially Written for the "China Mail.")

No. IV.

The village of Tsowisheng was pleasantly situated at the head of a well-cultivated valley, and almost hidden amidst bamboo clumps and banyan groves. The houses were typically Chinese; that is, they were without chimneys or windows. The one doorway of each house admitted the little light needed into the living room, and a hole protected by iron bars admitted a few beams into the side room, used by the inmates as a sleeping apartment as well as a store-room for things innumerable and things unmentionable. A stockade, more or less dilapidated, surrounded, and protected the village, which allowed only one entrance, viz., through a huge gateway, which in turn was protected by two very ancient canon, borne on gun-carriages, nearly as old and absolutely rickety. The canon had been there for scores of years, and were supposed to intimidate robbers, though whether they could be fired without exploding is doubtful.

A Chinese village is one of the disappointing things in China. From a distance it looks most attractive and sylvan, as the grey roofs peep out amidst the bamboos and banyans. A near approach, however, reveals only broken and filthy streets, decaying, and delapidated houses, rubbish heaps and fermenting gutters; herds of swine and flocks of fowls, crowds of children, whose general appearance suggests a more intimate acquaintance with the gutter than with flowing water, and ancient dames who might easily pass for witches.

About eight o'clock of the evening of the third day of the second month of the first year of the new Republic, the villagers, mostly day labourers, slouched into their houses, and presently the dim oil lamps of the dwellings were extinguished.

A gentleman, a stranger in these parts, had recently visited the village; he was evidently better off than the natives. It was whispered that he had emigrated to America, made money, and was now very rich. Gossip said that he was the cousin of a young and beautiful widow named A. Kwei, who had for some time resided in the village, and supported her mother-in-law by her needle. No one knew anything more, for the stranger came and went and neither spoke to anyone in the street, nor sought the acquaintance of any family except A. Kwei.

During the day in question, he had been seen passing down the village street. No one had seen him depart.

The night watchman is still an institution in the big villages and country towns of China. This functionary seems useless, though he thinks himself indispensable, and over houses is compelled to pay a small quarterly tax for his support. At stated times, during the night, he patrols the streets, beating a hollow bamboo, which makes a big noise. As his approach is always heralded by this noise, thieves, who had some time resided in the village, and supported her mother-in-law by her needle. No one knew anything more, for the stranger came and went and neither spoke to anyone in the street, nor sought the acquaintance of any family except A. Kwei.
